Three Senate Seats Go GOP

Republicans Apparently Sweep All But One Of Major Posts

By JIM LARSON
Staff Writer

Nebraska's usually impregnable Republican fortress showed signs of weakening Wednesday morning as general election results mounted.

Threatening to break the solid Republican front was Democratic Congressional contender James Hart of Omaha, who locked horns with Jackson B. Chase, a fellow Omahan, in a see-saw battle for the Second District Seat.

The outcome early Wednesday was still very much in doubt, with Chase slipping ahead again after relinquishing an earlier lead.

This was the race which had been tagged the one to watch for a possible Democratic victory.

But elsewhere, it appeared the Republican sweep was complete, with the GOP gaining three Senate seats, the other three Congressional posts and the Governor's chair.

Acknowledgments—or semi-acknowledgments—of defeat came from Democrats James Green of Omaha, Keith Neville of North Platte and Democrat Ernest M. Luther of Hooper.

An aid to Green said the Omaha attorney "wired his opponent and apparent victor Rep. Roman Hruska:

"Congratulations upon your splendid victory. If your service to Nebraska is as capable and as honorable as was your campaign, your record will be outstanding. May God bless you in your efforts."

With 821 of 2,110 precincts Hruska was leading Green 74,663-50,172.

Luther early Wednesday conceded the apparent re-election of Republican Robert D. Harrison of Norfolk as U. S. Representative from Nebraska's third district.

Neville said it appeared he had lost the full U.S. Senate race to Republican Carl T. Curtis.

With returns in from more than a third of the Third District's 496 precincts, Harrison was leading by better than 3 to 2.

Luther said Harrison had been a "nice opponent" and it had been a "clean" race.

Going Duck Hunting
From North Platte, former Gov. Neville said, "It looks like that's it," when returns from nearly 700 precincts showed him trailing Curtis by 20,000 votes.

Neville said he would not normally concede the election until morning, however.

He said if the returns giving his opponent this advantage were representative of all sections of the state, it was unlikely the trend would change.

"I'm going duck hunting in the morning," he said. "I'll have a statement by that time."

In the First Congressional District contest, Republican Phil Weaver of Falls City was the apparent winner over Democrat Frank B. Morrison of McCook.

Rep. A. L. Miller of Kimball apparently had clinched re-election from the Fourth Congressional District, with a healthy lead over Democrat Carlton Laird of Scottsbluff.

The election had the earmarks of being close to an off-year record-breaker with an estimated half-million persons voting. In 1938, 507,471 marked ballots in the state, the highest number for an off-year election in history.

GOP Wins In County But Margins Are Cut

Republicans retained their hold on Lancaster County offices in Tuesday's general election but victory margins were smaller than expected in the county commissioner races.

A near record off-year election

Republican Max Harding with 15,023 votes in 125 beat out Democrat Robert Zimmerman who received 10,995 votes.

Perry, Adams, Liebers Gain Senate Posts

Otto Liebers, Tom Adams and Robert Perry have won election in Lancaster County for the state Legislature from the 18th, 19th and 20th Legislative districts.

Running unopposed, Liebers polled 6,749 votes in the 18th District.

Attorney Robert Perry built up a steady lead over his opponent, Cobe S. Venner, Lincoln businessman, in the big 20th legislative district and ended up with a total of 9,569 votes with several precincts unreported. Venner could count 7,453 votes in his favor.

The other Legislative contest, the 19th district, brought out considerable fewer voters but ended with about the same spread between the votes for Tom Adams, the victor with 3,354 votes, and Leo N. Bartunek, who polled 2,046 votes.

In another lively contest, H. G. Greenmeyer received 16,382 votes to beat out D. T. Fenton with votes for director of Consumers Public Power District, District No. 7. With nearly complete returns, Fenton had 10,701 votes.

The only other contested non-political race in the county found George Spidel edging Frank Landis for member of the state board of education from the first district. Spidel polled 14,654 votes to 14,247 for Landis.

Write-In Wins

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Strom Thurmond, 1948 presidential candidate of the States' Right Party, was elected U. S. senator in a Democratic write-in campaign.

It was the first time in history that anyone had been elected to either house of Congress as a write-in candidate.

Thurmond defeated Edgar Brown, who was nominated by the South Carolina Democratic Executive Committee, two days after the Sept. 1 death of Sen. Burnet Maybank.

Thurmond and one of his chief supporters, Gov. James F. Byrnes, voted for Eisenhower two years ago.

It was the first time the official Democratic candidate for a major office had been defeated in South Carolina since the post-Civil War reconstruction period. Thurmond, however, will go to Washington as a Democrat. He has promised to resign in two years and run then in a primary.

With 1,383 of South Carolina's 1,569 precincts reported, Thurmond had 125,829 votes to Brown's 74,470. Another Democratic write-in candidate, Marcus A. Stone, trailed with 216.

Republicans Are Toppled In New York

Harriman Bests Ives And Frear (D-Del) Wins

By The Associated Press
Democrats surged within reaching distance early Wednesday of control of both Senate and House in the 84th Congress meeting next January.

They had made a net gain of two seats—enough to give them Senate command if the trends held and the single Independent, Wayne Morse of Oregon, came through with his promised support.

For a time it had looked as though the Democrats might do no better than a Senate tie, dropping the vital, deciding vote into the hands of Vice President Nixon. Senate from Kentucky.

Millions of Americans, voting in perhaps record off-year numbers, seemed to be saying "no" to President Eisenhower's bid for a completely Republican Congress to back his program in his second two years in the White House.

They did heed his appeal, and that of Democrats, too, to turn out and vote. But in many vital instances they voted Democratic in an election on which the President had staked much of his personal prestige.

To some extent, the outcome seemed likely to have a bearing on whether Eisenhower might try for another term in 1956 and on his possibility of winning again if he does run. That applied also to Adlai E. Stevenson, the defeated Democratic presidential candidate who pounded the campaign trail for the Democrats once more this year.

Democrats went into the election needing a net gain of only two Senate and three House seats to take control of both branches of the 84th Congress.

Different Story
They apparently were within striking distance of the goal so far as the House was concerned. But it was a different story with the Senate.

Some of the Senate seats on which they had pinned victory those margins hold, Democrats would gain 16 more seats.

In 18 still undecided Senate contests, some still tight, some with still far from conclusive returns, Democrats led in seven, including three states in which the GOP now holds Senate seats.

The seven involved Democratic seats in Illinois, Minnesota, Montana and New Mexico and Republican seats in Massachusetts, Nevada and New Jersey.

The GOP led for seven seats now in their hands: in California, Idaho, Michigan, two in Nebraska, Oregon and South Dakota. The Republicans also were ahead for Democratic-held seats in Colorado, Iowa, Ohio and Wyoming.

Eighteen Contests
The Democrats had elected 13 governors and the Republican 3 with 18 contests undetermined. Democrats had taken four seats from the Republicans, those in New York and Pennsylvania, Maine in the September voting, and Connecticut.

Thus while there seemed to be something of the trend Democrats had predicted in some areas, it failed to show up in other places as strongly as they had predicted.

In large measure, it seemed to be little more than the usual off-year swing to the party out of power.

In key states, the picture looked like this:
Kentucky—Barkley trailed, passed and then won in the battle for Cooper's Senate seat.

Ohio—in a state where the GOP hoped for a Senate gain, Republican Rep. George H. Bender had a narrow edge over Democratic Sen. Thomas A. Burke. Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche, a powerful vote getter, forged ahead of Republican James A. Rhodes in a bid for a fifth term in the statehouse.

Hairline Margin
Michigan—in a Senate race that shifted the lead back and forth, Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson had a hairline margin. But Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams appeared on the way to an unprecedented fourth term over Republican Donald S. Leonard.

Delaware—Democrat J. Allen Frear Jr. was re-elected easily in a state that had looked close. Democrats netted a Republican House seat, too.

New Jersey—Republican Clifford P. Case, handicapped by a GOP split along conservative-liberal lines, trailed Democratic Rep. Charles R. Howell for a Senate seat now in Republican hands.

New York—One of the country's bitterest campaigns wound up in a governorship victory for Democrat Averell Harriman, who fought off a challenge of U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives. Gov. Dewey had tapped Ives, never before an election loser, as his heir apparent in the statehouse.

Ives had accused Harriman of shady business deals and said he was unfit and perhaps ineligible to serve as governor. The former secretary of commerce and ambassador to Britain called Ives a liar and dishonorable.

Senate Battle
Nip And Tuck

WASHINGTON (Wednesday) (UP)—Democrats edged toward control of the House and were in a nip-and-tuck battle for the Senate early today on incomplete returns from yesterday's off-year voting.

They entered the election needing a net gain of 3 House and 2 Senate seats for control of both branches.

Their venerable "veep"—Alben W. Barkley—staged a comeback in Kentucky, but the best the Democrats could claim on the basis of won and leading at that hour was a tie in the Senate—and that would leave the deciding vote to Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Democrats had chalked up net House gains of 5 seats. They picked up Republican seats in Delaware, Indiana, Maryland, Missouri, New York and Pennsylvania, and had lost a Florida seat.

19 Gains

In 24 other districts now held by Republicans, the Democrats were ahead, while Democratic candidates were trailing in 5 districts now held by Republicans. If the trend in those 29 districts continued, the Democrats would chalk up 19 more gains.

Democrats had elected 173 and Republicans 79 while Democrats were ahead in 51 and Republicans in 81 contests.

In the 38 Senate contests, Democrats had won 16 and were ahead in 7 others. If they win all 23, they would have 47 seats in the next Senate plus the promised help of Sen. Morse (Ind-Oregon).

Republicans had bagged 4 Senate seats and were ahead in 11 other states, including 3 now held by Democrats in Colorado, Iowa and Ohio.

Returns were partial and inconclusive in several states.

Should Republicans win all contests in which they were ahead they would have 48 seats in the new Senate.

Republican Victor E. Anderson rolled to a comfortable gubernatorial victory over his Democratic opponent, William Ritchie, in Lancaster County.

Ritchie, however, with a total of 11,773 votes in 115 of the county's 131 precincts, polled the highest number of votes among Democratic candidates for state offices.

Anderson got 17,579 votes in 115 Lancaster precincts.

The victory was doubly sweet for Anderson, a Lincoln businessman, since he was defeated in his home county in the primary race for governor two years ago by Gov. Robert Crosby.

Incumbent Republican Frank Marsh polled 20,067 votes, the highest number received by any of his fellow party members running for state offices. Marsh leads his race by more than a two to one majority over V. C. Havorka Sr., who received 9,070 votes in 115 of 131 Lancaster County precincts.

Also polling a high Republican vote for re-election was Attorney General Clarence Beck who rolled over his comparatively unknown opponent in Lancaster County William Grubbs, Scottsbluff, by a vote of 18,966 to 4,878 for Grubbs in 115 precincts.

MONTPELIER, Vt. (INS)—Burlington went Democratic almost two-to-one, giving the top candidates on the party ticket surprising leads in the off-year election.

Burlington and 40 towns in the state, where tabulation was completed, gave E. Frank Brannon (D), 13,374 to 10,193 for Lt. Gov. Joseph B. Johnson (R) in the gubernatorial contest.

A close contest developed in the race for the state's lone Congressional seat. The incumbent Winslow L. Prouty (R) in the same communities polled 11,699 to 11,607 for John J. Boyland Jr., (D).

Cotton Tops Slate

CONCORD, N. H. (INS)—Norris Cotton, the Republican congressman seeking a short-term U. S. Senate seat, topped the ticket in first returns as New Hampshire voters cast roughly 73 per cent of the registered vote.

Cotton polled 378 votes in eight out of 297 precincts. Stanley Betley, his Democratic opponent, had 90 votes.

Nip and Tuck

Maryland — Republicans took a governorship in what had been considered a nip and tuck race — with another term for Theodore R. McKeldin over Dr. Harry C. Byrd, former president of the University of Maryland.

Minnesota — Democratic Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, a "new-dealer fair-dealer" the GOP had tabbed particularly for defeat, held a substantial lead in his bid for another term over his GOP opponent, Val Bjornson.

Rhode Island — The Senate's oldest member, 87-year old Democrat Theodore Francis Green, got another term. He beat Republican Walter I. Sundlun. Rhode Island again elected a Democratic governor.

Wisconsin: Republican Gov. Walter J. Kohler set the pace over Democrat William Proxmire, the same man he licked two years ago, in the gubernatorial contest.

Wyoming — Meager tallies produced a small Republican edge in the Senate scrap for a seat now held by the GOP. Republican Rep. William Henry Harrison was trying to head off the comeback bid of former Democratic Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, in a race in which O'Mahoney had been considered the favorite.

Nevada — Democrats turned out Republican Ernest S. Brown in Nevada and replaced him with Alan Bible. This represented a Democratic gain but not a surprising one, since Brown was only an appointed fill-in for the late Democratic Senator Pat McCarran.

Some GOP Hopetuls 'Not Doing So Well,' Says Ike
... But Some Surprise President

WASHINGTON (Wednesday) (UP)—President Eisenhower said early today that some of the Republican candidates he figured would run close races against Democrats "aren't doing so well, and some are losing."

On the other hand, Eisenhower said, some GOP candidates are surprising him and doing all right in the elections. He mentioned only one—Gordon Allott, GOP senatorial candidate in Colorado.

Eisenhower chatted with newsmen a few moments as he left the Sheraton-Park Hotel apartment of Secretary of Defense Wilson.

He and Mrs. Eisenhower spent about two hours there receiving election returns on television and radio after dining earlier at the home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

As he left the Wilson apartment, a reporter asked Eisenhower: "What do you think of things, Mr. President? How are they going?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, there are a lot of close races," the President responded with a smile.

"Some Losing"

"Some of the ones I thought would be close aren't doing so well, and some are losing."

Then he added that some Republican candidates had surprised him and were doing all right.

At the time he mentioned Allott's race in Colorado, the GOP candidate had a lead of 2,500 over former Rep. John Carroll.

The President appeared to be in good humor. He joked with reporters and apologized for keeping them waiting for two hours while he and Mrs. Eisenhower were at the Wilsons.

The President and the first lady were joined there by other administration officials, including Atty. Gen. Brownell and his wife, the Humphreys, and Secretary of State and Mrs. Dulles.

Just before going to the White House at 12:35 a.m. (EST), and aides reported he went to bed 10 minutes later without awaiting further returns.

On Assessors

A constitutional amendment to provide for appointment of county assessors headed for defeat by a nearly two-to-one vote against it.

Little hope was held for amendments which would lift restrictions on state salaries and which would remove residence requirements for certain state officials.

Balloting on the other six amendments showed the pros and cons separated by a narrow margin.

Five of the eight amendments were submitted at a special session of the Legislature in an effort to bring about tax reforms.

Interest in reform of the tax laws apparently dwindled after the primary election defeat of Gov. Robert Crosby, who was generally blamed when a Supreme Court ruling forced the State Board of Equalization to equalize between counties and classes of property on an actual value basis.

A total of 35 per cent of the total vote must be cast in favor of an amendment in order for it to be passed.

Shy Of Victory

Lancaster County Democratic pre-election optimism was shown by final voting returns to have had some justification but not enough for victory as Republican candidates made a clean sweep of all three Senate seats and the one post in Congress.

In the top six year Senate race, former governor Keith Neville was defeated by Republican Carl T. Curtis, former representative who left the hall of Congress for a shot at the Senate seat. Precinct voting in that race was generally close but Curtis was a consistent winner as he ended up with 16,965 votes to 12,706 for Neville in 115 of the county's 131 precincts.

The gap was greater between Republicans Roman L. Hruska, the winner with 17,811 votes and Democrat James F. Green in the battle for the four-year Senate term. Green, with 11,595 votes in 115 out of 131 precincts, did not show the strength he was credited for before the election.

In the short Senate term race, about a two month term, Mrs. George P. Abel won for the Republicans with 17,014 votes in 115 precincts as compared with 12,286 for her Democratic opponent, William H. Meier.

Republican Phil Weaver of Falls City also polled a surprising majority over his Democratic opponent Frank B. Morrison of McCook in the Lancaster County vote on Congressman in the First District.

Probably the most spirited of the campaigns on the national office level, the drive for Congress in 115 Lancaster precincts with Weaver out in front by a vote of 17,037 to 12,310 for Morrison.

You'd expect Chevrolet to out-V8 the field—and it has! Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio that squeezes more pure fun out of a gallon of gas than you ever dreamed possible! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so wonderfully efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here. Come in and let the new "Turbo-Fire V8" speak for itself. You'll like what it has to say!

With enough new advances

Chevrolet offers two new highstepping sixes for 1955! There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, higher-rated power—the zippy, thrifty high-compression kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems . . . new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system for finer performance and faster cold-weather starting. All in all, they're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car. As you know, that covers a lot of territory. And so will you—with either of these two new sixes!

EPC 'Give Away' Is Hit By Kefauver

Decision Allowing Natural Gas Rates To Increase Raises Ire

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), sharply attacked the Federal Power Commission Tuesday for allowing independent producers of natural gas to raise their rates by $8,121,923 a year.

Kefauver charged that the action was "the latest evidence of the give-away program" and declared as a result gas rates to consumers will be boosted all over the country within a few months.

The lawmaker, member of a Senate Judiciary Sub Committee probing monopolies, indicated that he will urge the group to look into the commission's decision not to block the rate increase which went into effect Monday. Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of Houston and other firms shared in the rate hike.

Kefauver asserted: "What this decision amounts to is a further breakdown of regulations devised to control an essentially monopolistic industry, the field producers of oil and gas which are dominated by a handful of oil and financial interests."

Higher Costs

The senator said he was "confident" that the pipeline companies "will immediately file for increases" to reflect the higher costs charged by the gas producers.

He predicted: "Within a few months gas rates to consumers will be up all over the country and the poor consumer will never know what hit him. He will have a difficult time tracing it back to this action of the commission, which allowed the field oil and gas producers to get theirs on election eve, 1954."

Kefauver and Senate Judiciary Chairman William Langer (R-ND), have announced they will seek one million dollars next year to carry out their anti-monopoly investigation which they said will cover industry practices in the power, movie, automobile and farm machinery field.

Bipartisan Wheelbarrow Takes Voters To Polls

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — Sam Bernstein, owner of a hotel in near-by Saxonburg, said several days ago "I'm going to get the people out to vote if I have to take them in a wheelbarrow."

Tuesday, Bernstein, a Republican, did just that with the help of Democrat Ed Bauman.

They wheeled two hotel residents, Mrs. Agnes Parker and Roy Bernhardt, one block from the hotel to the polls.

The two passengers said they wanted to see if Bernstein would carry out his promise.

Neither Bernstein nor Bauman is a party worker.

"Daddy, Do We Own the Street in Front of Our House?"

A natural question. And your answer? Well... "yes, son in a way we do. My father helped pay for the concrete paving. It was a wise investment too. The street is still giving good service after all these years."

Yes, concrete lasts longer. Its long service, moderate first cost, and low maintenance cost means low annual cost.

Concrete also saves on street lighting costs because it reflects more light. That helps reduce accidents. And, wet or dry, it has uniformly high skid resistance.

For the utmost return in pavement service for your money urge city officials to specify concrete for all your streets.

Fulfilling Purposes

There was an understandable, natural concern expressed some years back when it was proposed that Nebraska's state teachers colleges—four in number, situated at Chadron, Kearney, Peru and Wayne—be empowered to broaden the teaching curriculum to grant the liberal arts degree.

It would be duplicating the work of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Nebraska, the basic college of the state university, it was argued, with some basis for the assumption. A recent report of a Nebraska legislative council committee dealing with the Nebraska state teachers colleges is highly illuminating. It establishes that the four institutions at Chadron, Kearney, Peru and Wayne are sticking rigidly to their basic objective of providing teacher training.

Much Ado About Nothing

Sen. Carl Hayden, Arizona Democrat and ranking minority member of the Senate Rules Committee, has notified Vice President Nixon that there may be a challenge to the right of Nebraska's two appointee senators, Eve Bowring of Merriman and Sam Reynolds of Omaha, to sit in on the McCarthy censure proceedings beginning in Washington when the Senate is reconvening next week.

In the event of a close vote, it will be recognized that the issue could be important. Senate membership as constituted on the November election day included six appointees—five Republicans and one Democrat.

There is a way out which is comparatively simple and which in the event of a long, protracted, drawn-out battle over McCarthy embodies so much common sense. All that Mrs. Bowring and Mr. Reynolds need to do is to notify Gov. Crosby that they are stepping down to let their successors take over. The governor could then certify the winner of Tuesday's election without waiting for the official canvass, unless the vote was so close that a recount might become necessary, a most unlikely development.

With the completion of the canvass, Tuesday's winners become the duly elected representatives of Nebraska. In the event that debate over censure of McCarthy as recommended by a Senate committee headed by Sen. Watkins of Utah strings out over the weeks, there would be this novel situation. The terms of Nebraska's two appointee senators, it would appear, ended before termination of the debate and Tuesday's winners would vote without having listened in on a portion of the debate.

The common-sense course suggests that the newly elected senators represent Nebraska in the McCarthy proceedings.

Still Have Problems

The Nebraska League of Municipalities plans to ask the 1955 legislature to do away with special levies in cities.

Somehow or other the interests of the off-year election have submerged other concerns. The league's return to taxation problems serves to remind us all that the elections are over; we are still in Nebraska, and the state has a full load of unsolved problems. Successful candidates for state office this morning will have the joy of victory marred by the sobering thought of what tasks are before them.

A good deal can be said both for and against special levies. Certainly they are a way of beating the limitations of the overall levy and are an invitation to unreality. But they have afforded an opportunity for municipal experimentation in tentative fields of community service and have left to the voters in a given town considerable democratic latitude.

The fact is frequently lost sight of that most cities are stepchildren in the family of government. They have no sovereign power to assess or to determine the limits of their taxing power. Their service responsibilities are great yet they must look to legislative consent to meet them.

Sometimes it would seem better to grant cities more tax freedom than less. Economy and long range thrift frequently requires immediate capital and on-the-spot management. And these are too often denied by remote authority that is neither familiar with the problem, nor too greatly interested.

Weakening At Home

Some thought-provoking figures have come out in connection with the Air Defense Command. Of present enlisted personnel only 8.5 per cent of the airmen whose four year terms will expire in the next two months plan to re-enlist. About 50 per cent have definitely made up their minds to quit the service. The remaining are undecided.

The ADC, a little publicized or glamorized branch of service, exists to protect this country in case of attack, operating radar warning stations, flying interceptor planes and doing similar protective tasks.

Most of the retiring personnel is giving as reasons, low pay, duty at remote places where family life is difficult if not impossible and high cost of housing where any exists.

It takes highly specialized people to man ADC, men who can't be trained overnight. This late emptying out of that branch is not a matter to take lightly. Future American wars will not be one way affairs. Home protection will be as important and vital as combat elsewhere.

It will be just as bad to have a poorly defended homeland as it would be to field an inadequately manned and trained field army.

Strange Objects

United States Ambassador Clare Booth Luce said she just saw an odd object flying around Rome. There is nothing particularly unusual about that. Had she stayed home she recently would have seen lots of them flying around. They were all running for office.

DREW PEARSON

Sen. Langer Behind Anti-Trust Inquiry

WASHINGTON—Election Merry-Go-Round—Don't blame the secret service for the beating given the San Mateo heckler who asked Nixon: "tell us a dog story, Dick." The secret service keeps out of such service. Nixon has carried his own goon squad with him for some time. Governor Dewey ghost-wrote most of Senator Ives' speeches. At first Ives wanted to keep Dewey on the side lines, in the end hardly made a move without calling Tom. Labor leaders claim Ike got his re-employment figure of 400,000 from the fact that students have now gone back to college. Bay State politicians say there was much more of the knife of Foster Furcolo by fellow-Democrat Sen. Jack Kennedy and family than met the eye. They attributed the barrage against Furcolo by the New Bedford Standard-Time to the young senator's father, ex-ambassador Joe Kennedy. The newspaper, in an effort to discourage the Italian vote, claimed Furcolo was not born of immigrant parents.

PROBE OF BUSINESS MERGERS

Here's the inside story behind the Federal Trade Commission's sudden move to investigate business mergers and combines.

Actually, Chairman "Wild Bill" Langer of the Senate Judiciary Committee is responsible. He wrote a sharp letter to Attorney General Brownell threatening to investigate mergers. Alarmed over the way mergers always seemed to come just before a depression, Langer pointed out that in 1920 the number of mergers jumped from 411 to 749—just before the depression following World War I. Again, in 1928 and 1929, the number of mergers shot up to the highest in history—more than a thousand each year. The big depression followed.

In recent years, mergers jumped from 200 in 1950 to 822 in 1952. Last year was another high year with 793 mergers.

So, when Langer asked Brownell the reason why so many mergers were being permitted, the attorney general got worried. He decided that if Langer was going to probe mergers he had better cut the ground out from under Langer by getting the Trade Commission to start an investigation first.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Stanley Barnes, the Justice Department's anti-trust chief, has flatly refused to waive the anti-trust laws so manufacturers can exchange information on how to make guided missiles. This has made Secretary of Defense Wilson so mad he has threatened to take it up in cabinet meeting. The big aircraft companies are rushing to get special tax write-offs for building their new plants in labor surplus areas. Curtiss-Wright, Boeing, Glenn Martin, Rohr Aircraft and Aviation have already applied for big tax write-offs. A drastic speed-up has been ordered to produce an atomic-powered bombing plane. Five companies have been assigned to push the bomber—General Electric, Consolidated Vultee, Boeing, Lockheed, and Pratt & Whitney. Meanwhile, Russia has gone all out to put the first atomic-powered plane in the sky.

STRINGFELLOW HOAX

Harold G. Staggs, the Army Times editor who exposed the war-record hoax of GOP Congressman Douglas Stringfellow of Utah, is in hot water with both political parties since breaking his big scoop.

The Republicans are furious at Staggs for breaking the Stringfellow story before the elections. Democrats also are irked that he didn't hold his expose a week longer, when the political impact would have been greater.

However, Staggs was so anxious to be fair and nonpolitical that he neglected to mention one important item in his story. This is the interesting fact that White House aides knew about the Stringfellow hoax six months before the Army Times publication, but failed to do anything about it.

Whether these White House aides advised the President is not known. But they themselves were content to keep the American public in the dark about Stringfellow's hoax until after the election.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Public Conscience Must End Abuses

WASHINGTON — It may be in line to ask, now that the election campaign has ended and without respect to the outcome, how long even so rich and flourishing a country as the United States can afford the kind of politics that has been exhibited to an indifferent public for the past six weeks.

Seldom, if ever, in the view of this observer, has the caliber of the candidates seemed so low or the quality of the campaigns they were waging so shoddy and cheap. Perhaps, as so many Americans blithely assume, politics doesn't really matter and the whole business can once again be brushed under the rug until the next election.

But what seems increasingly clear is that citizens qualified by education, experience, conviction and character are simply not available for public office. The result is inevitably second or third-rate officeholders, and, in consequence, second- or third-rate government that costs from two to three times as much as it should.

This is becoming true on the national as well as the state level. The miracle is that there are still able, honest, knowledgeable men willing to go through the ordeal with some disinterested concern for the public good.

In recent years the cost of campaigning has gone steadily upward. With the advent of television it has soared to a new height. There are laws limiting the expenditures of individual candidates, but they are evaded in one way or another almost everywhere. The amount listed by the candidate as officially spent is like the piece of the iceberg visible to the eye. The vast bulk is concealed beneath the waters muddled by various kinds of concealment.

The money comes for the most part from pressure groups, from business interests, from trade unions, from contractors and others seeking profit out of government. While in some cases the motive for these gifts may be a disinterested concern for good government, the donors, on the whole, expect to get value received for the dollars they spend.

As the campaign mercifully ended made evident in far too many instances, it is the individual with a private axe to grind or the party hack, the cautious errand boy serving the machine, who will take the punishments. He has his own private motives for standing up to the buzz saw.

In Illinois the Republican candidate for the senate, Joseph T.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

Chimps Is The Cwaziest People

When the new chimpanzee donated to the city through a $1,000 gift from Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods arrives at the Antelope Park zoo, it should be a day of celebration among the animal kingdom there.

While the lion may be king of beasts in the wild Mr. Chimp probably holds top spot in most zoos. As man conquered the animal world through his intellect, so has the chimpanzee made the most of his natural abilities—call it brains, humor or anything else, but he has something his brothers can't seem to compete with.

Not only is the chimpanzee the top attraction among visitors, but he will be the highest priced animal in the Lincoln zoo. Even the magnificently colored birds from all parts of the world and the monstrous alligator take second place in price to the lively chimpanzee. Because of this, the chimpanzee will be the only animal at the zoo covered by a life insurance policy. Monkey business, maybe, but also big business.

The trouble with the chimp seems to be that he tends to get too smart for his own good. Many people can remember "Jimmy The Chimp" who inhabited the Lincoln zoo through the 1930's and early 1940's.

Jimmy was a close companion of former Park Superintendent Chet Ager who dished the chimp in his fiery and paraded him many times through the corridors of the City Hall. But poor Jimmy, probably thinking from the crowds he drew that he was indispensable, became so rude and insulting to his many zoo visitors that he had to be shipped off to distant quarters.

Here is fair warning to the new chimp—eat your food and don't save it and other little parcels to throw at unsuspecting customers.

Park Superintendent Jim Ager has reported that work will get underway Monday on the improvements scheduled for the 14th and Harrison Street Lake.

The first project will call for the deepening of the lake, grading the banks and a new outlet at the southwest end. Following this will come construction of a new open-roof shelter house.

When completed, the lake should be an attractive recreation center. With the new storm sewer in the area, drainage water cannot get into the lake.

The lake will now be fed with city water from nearby fire hydrants—thus eliminating stagnation which in the past has been blamed for mosquitos and other bugs in the area. The lake, formerly a city liability, should soon be a real asset.

The past week has proven one thing—there is a lot of discussion ahead before any one-way street system is installed in Lincoln on a large scale.

The Police Department traffic division plan for a one-way system on all downtown streets has brought forth a lot of discussion on Lincoln's traffic situation and nearly everybody has a different idea. The various advantages and disadvantages of a one-way system are too numerous to relate here, as they are for two-way streets. Fuel was added to the streets and traffic discussion by plans presented for development of the southeast diagonal. The diagonal has with it a question of one-way or two-way streets that has a lot of points in favor of each but the decision for two-way streets has apparently already been made.

The most serious thing about the diagonal is the fact that it contains a lot of unknown quantities. It should be known, for instance, what the various alternatives for construction of the diagonal will cost—that is, what different entrance and exit plans would cost and who would pay the bill.

It should also be determined how much of the city's street funds will be required to complete the diagonal. The diagonal will be relatively unimportant and ineffective from 21st and G. to 17th and D only—it must be continued in both directions before its ultimate good and full benefits are realized.

If this completion means a substantial drain on other street needs, it should be known before the first leg of the diagonal is ready to be constructed. One what a lot of time has been spent already on preparing the diagonal plans thus far, including overtime work in the city engineering office. It is expected that the diagonal plans will be ready to present to the City Council in possibly a month.

The Council has a lot of answers to get before the plans can be approved on an intelligent basis. There is little doubt that the southeast and northeast diagonals are very desirable projects but they should be placed in their proper perspective before undertaken.

Prisoners' Pay

Litchfield, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: So many here take The Star. I wonder if you couldn't say something to stop the rumor going around here that the U.S. pays enemy prisoners the same wages as our soldier boys. If they were officers, they would draw the pay an officer of the same rank in our Army would get, not what they got at home. You'd be surprised at the people who tell that and really believe it. They say it is an international agreement.

If they do pay them such amounts, don't tell me. Let me keep my illusions that this is a fine country.

MRS. R. S. M.

Editor's Note: There is no basis for the rumor that the United States pays enemy prisoners amounts in any way comparable to the pay of regular members of the Armed Forces. A working basis for pay to prisoners was set up by the third Geneva Conference of 1949, and as set forth in the Handbook of the International Red Cross, 10th Edition, 1953, Page 174, provides the following:

That detaining powers shall grant to prisoners of war the following monthly amounts, according to their particular military rank:

Group One: To those below the rank of sergeant, or prisoners of equivalent rank, 8 Swiss francs.

Group Two: To sergeants, other non-commissioned officers, or prisoners of equivalent rank, 12 Swiss francs.

Group Three: To warrant officers and commissioned officers below the rank of major, or prisoners of equivalent rank, 50 Swiss francs.

Group Four: To majors, lieutenant colonels and colonels, or prisoners of equivalent rank, 60 Swiss francs.

Group Five: To generals, or prisoners of equivalent rank, 75 Swiss francs.

Since one American dollar corresponds to 4.37 Swiss francs, the amounts paid would not seem to be exorbitant; by way of example, Group One's pay would amount to less than two dollars a month, etc.

Further stipulations even provide that if the amounts paid are "unduly high" or may prove "embarrassing" to the detaining powers by comparison with their own monetary rates, the amounts paid to prisoners may be modified or adjusted correspondingly.

Fond Memories

Charlotte, N. C.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been receiving copies of your good paper and I enjoy reading them very much. Eleven years ago I lived at Havelock and worked at the Burlington shops in Lincoln. I remember Lincoln as a clean, beautiful city with nice, friendly people and an atmosphere of well-being.

I am a native of the beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, but I work in Charlotte. Many years ago I worked as a miner in the mountains of western North Carolina, and in 1935 with two other men I helped to inspect and pass by hand every piece of the quartz flint that went into the casing of the large 200-inch telescope, the world's largest, that now rests at Mt. Palomar, California. After leaving Lincoln in 1944 I worked as guard at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, until the war ended.

I have many fond memories of your city and remember many good friends I had in Lincoln and Havelock. It is my hope to be able to return to Lincoln some day for a visit and to the place of some of the happiest days of my life—eastern Nebraska. Best wishes to the Star.

Capitol Murals

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I was surprised to note that "The Sower" (Star Staff Writer Arch Donovan) expounded about one-third of his noble general column to sowing seeds of discontent with the first mural, in The Star of Saturday, Oct. 30.

The mural is so much in keeping with the building that all qualified experts have been unanimous in stating that it "belongs"; Mr. Lee Lawrie, the great sculptor of the Capitol and of the real Sower at its top, said after the selection of Mr. Evett's designs: "Goodhue would have loved them, they fit his great building."

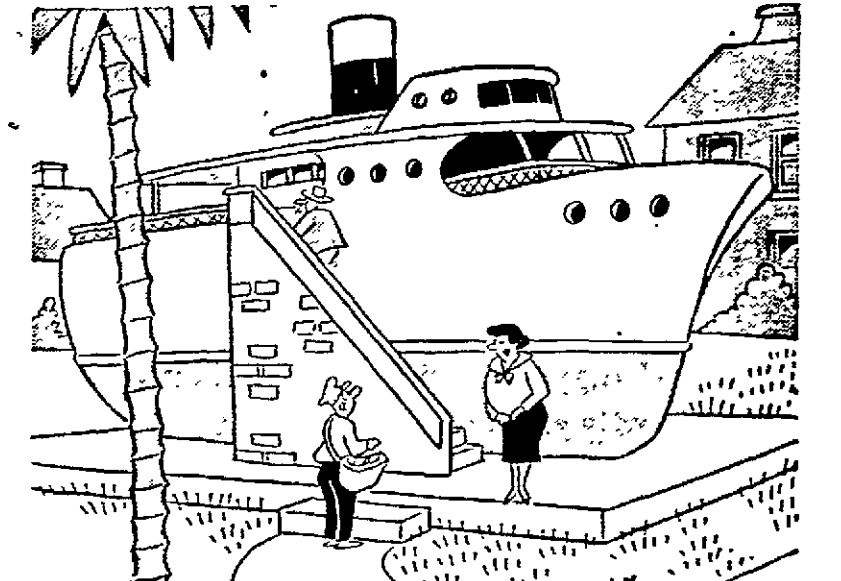

This first mural and the two which will complete the rotunda series were selected by a jury of experts, including Mr. Lawrie and Miss Hildreth Meiere who designed the floors and the dome of the rotunda, and were unanimously approved by the Capitol Murals Commission which includes in its membership several "acknowledged experts."

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

This was written on a day when millions were performing the duties of American citizenship by casting their votes. It was written with an eye to the future rather than the past. Whatever outcome prevails, for this land of the free and the home of the brave, life again begins when the count is completed. Surely none of us could be so stupid as to cherish bitterness and resentment against any expression which the people of free America give.

The first great American to serve this nation as President had infinitely much more wisdom to pass on to his people as a heritage than a warning against entangling alliances (of a permanent character) in what is known as "Washington's Farewell Address." "The name of American which belongs to you in your national capacity must always exalt the pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discrimination." Washington wrote to a Virginian. "With slight shades of difference, you have the same religion, manners, habits, and political principles. . . . One of the expedients of party (political) to acquire influence is to misrepresent the opinions and aims of others. . . . You cannot shield yourselves too much against the jealousies and heartburnings which spring from these misrepresentations. They tend to render alien to each other those who ought to be bound together by fraternal affections. . . . Let us now take a more comprehensive view and warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party generally. This spirit unfortunately is inseparable from our nature, having its roots in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled, or repressed, but in those of the popular form (a free people) it is seen in its greatest rankness and is truly their worst enemy. The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the spirit of revenge natural to party dissension, is in itself a frightful despotism. . . . The common and continual mischiefs of the spirit of party are sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage, and restrain it. It serves always to distract the public councils and enfeeble the public administration. It agitates the community with ill-founded jealousies and false alarms, kindles the animosity of one part against another."

In simplest language, what George Washington was warning against was the abuses of misguided partisanship. It is time for the responsible political leadership of this country to put an end to the practice of calling a huge bloc of American citizens "left-wingers, pinks, punks and Commies." It is time in America to give more than passing lip service to the greatest heritage free peoples possess, and that is the right to differ in honest spirit.

Washington had more to say on this subject in these words: "There is an opinion that parties in free countries are useful checks upon the administration of government and serve to keep alive the spirit of liberty. This within certain limits is probably true. . . . In governments purely elective, it is a spirit not to be encouraged. From their natural tendencies, it is certain there will always be enough of that spirit for every salutary purpose, and there being constant danger of excess, the effort ought to be by force of public opinion to mitigate it." We go on our binges, frequently fanned to an emotional peak by misguided partisanship, and then on the morning after, we awaken to the realization that we have tossed restraint to the wind. There was little restraint in the closing days of a campaign which ended Tuesday.

Perhaps the hardest lesson we have yet to learn is that partisanship can lend itself to abuse. At least Washington in farewell words to his people sensed its dangers.

Nebraska 4-H Club State Champions Are Announced

Twenty-six Nebraska 4-H Club members have been selected as state champions in their club projects and activities.

Assistant State 4-H Club Leader Guy R. Davis said the youths are now eligible to compete for sectional and national awards offered by organizations and commercial firms. He also announced two alumni recognition winners.

Before submitting their records for state competition these 4-H's were named champions in their own counties.

Winners of the projects or activities are:

County, Home Agents Gather For Mee

Improved methods of serving Nebraska families is the theme of this year's conference for Nebraska's extension workers. The 40th annual event opened Tuesday and will continue through Friday in Lincoln.

Discussing this year's theme, Ed Janke, associate director of the Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service, pointed out that one great weakness in an organization is self-satisfaction. One sign of progress is willingness to select and accept those changes that result in a better job, he said.

With this in mind, the county agricultural agents, home agents and members of the state staff will strive to develop better methods of getting information to the people that will help them solve their own problems.

Aiding Nebraska's extension workers in developing their conference theme will be K. F. Warner, training officer of the Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA, Washington, D. C., who on Wednesday will discuss "Involving People in Program Planning."

Tuesday, he was the leader of a panel. The topic of discussion will center around "The Specialist's Place in Our Extension Program."

Preceding his talk, Dr. Clifford M. Harden, chancellor of the University of Nebraska, welcomed the extension workers to the campus.

The more extensive "Farm and Home Development" phase of the Agricultural Extension program will be discussed by Karl Knau, field agent, Federal Extension Service, Washington, D. C.

Friday afternoon, C. M. Ferguson, administrator, Federal Extension Service, Washington, D. C. will have for his topic "Looking Ahead."

During the Friday morning program, a panel of judges will report on the extension communications exhibit with George S. Routh, extension editor, as the lead. Representatives of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben will present awards to the winners.

In this contest, sponsored by Ak-Sar-Ben, county extension agricultural and home agents enter examples of their best work in the various fields of communication.

THE FORWARD LOOK

"With all-new styling, the cars of Chrysler Corporation are setting out to win a lot of new friends"

L. L. Colwell, President

An early stage in new car design—1/4 size clay model.

FOR MONTHS PEOPLE have been wondering what Chrysler Corporation's new cars will look like. Soon you will see our all-new concept of the modern car in Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto, Chrysler and Imperial for 1955.

Each in its own individual way, these cars will express this fresh contemporary design from frame to roof, from nose to tail.

We have named this new style THE FORWARD LOOK because it is so evident a departure from yesterday... because it creates cars so clearly of today... and tomorrow.

You will recognize appearance based on purpose... new-styled engineering that invites you to get in and go! You will see new length, new lowness. You will get a sense of forward motion, even when the car is standing still.

You will see headlights and hoods that reach out for the road ahead. You will find rear decks and taillights poised for getaway from what's behind.

You'll see fresh imagination and sureness of style. You'll find new windshields that wrap around more amply than any you've seen... but in a way that adds to the feeling of forwardness, instead of interrupting it.

You'll find touches of "airplane" thinking in power-swept metal sheathing, in eagerness for motion, in new, horizon-spanning visibility. Even the automatic drive selector awaits you in a new, flight-minded location!

You'll see it all soon... THE FORWARD LOOK... the blend of motion and fashion created to give you America's first contemporary motor cars, the fashion you have asked for!

Meanwhile, dealers in these 5 cars are taking advance orders from those who like new things early. May we suggest that you stop in and see your dealer, soon!

Corn Harvesting Still Trails '53 Mark

Yields Vary Considerably; Wheat 'Good'

More than half of Nebraska's corn crop has been harvested, the late-Federal Division of Agricultural statistics estimated Tuesday.

About 54 per cent of the crop had been harvested by the end of 1st week, compared to 89 per cent year ago, the division's weekly report said.

Many farmers have finished their corn picking, but late frost, high moisture content and rains delayed the harvest in general.

Yields vary considerably. In one southcentral county, dry-land yields are ranging from 15 to 5 bushels per acre, and irrigated corn is yielding 60 to 100 bushels an acre.

Irrigated corn in the North Platte valley was described as "exceptionally good" this year, and all matured before frost.

Condition of winter wheat also termed "exceptionally good." The crop has made good growth, one of the counties in the western part of the state received a fair amount of moisture last week but there still need surface moisture.

For the state as a whole, the soil moisture condition is more favorable than a year ago and the present condition of wheat is considerably better.

Other comments: Sugar beet harvest is nearing completion. Potato harvest is over. Sorghum harvest is making good progress.

Soybean harvest is nearing completion. Pasture and range feed are fair to good.

Corn fields are being pastured as soon as harvested to glean. Over 75 per cent of the counties report ample grain and hay supply.

Precipitation throughout Nebraska during the past week included:

11 Norfolk	30
33 Omaha	30
Central Division	50
47 North Platte	50

Vandals Disrupt Northeast Power Near Humphrey

HUMPHREY, Neb. (U) — Authorities Tuesday were seeking vandals who disrupted power service by smashing a lock and pulling a switch on Consumers Public Power District's switching structures one half mile northwest of here.

About 425 customers in Humphrey, Cornlea, St. Bernard and surrounding rural areas were without service for about 20 minutes.

Consumers officials pointed out that the vandalism could have had serious consequences through the failure of electric service to homes, hospitals, traffic signals and other vital services.

George Schaefer, Consumers superintendent here, discovered the damage while investigating the service interruption.

"Whoever was responsible showed little concern for human life—including his own," Schaefer declared.

He said the switching structure is connected to Consumers 34,500 volt, Humphrey-Albion transmission line.

Importance Of Natural Gas Use For Irrigation Hailed
South Central Area Affected

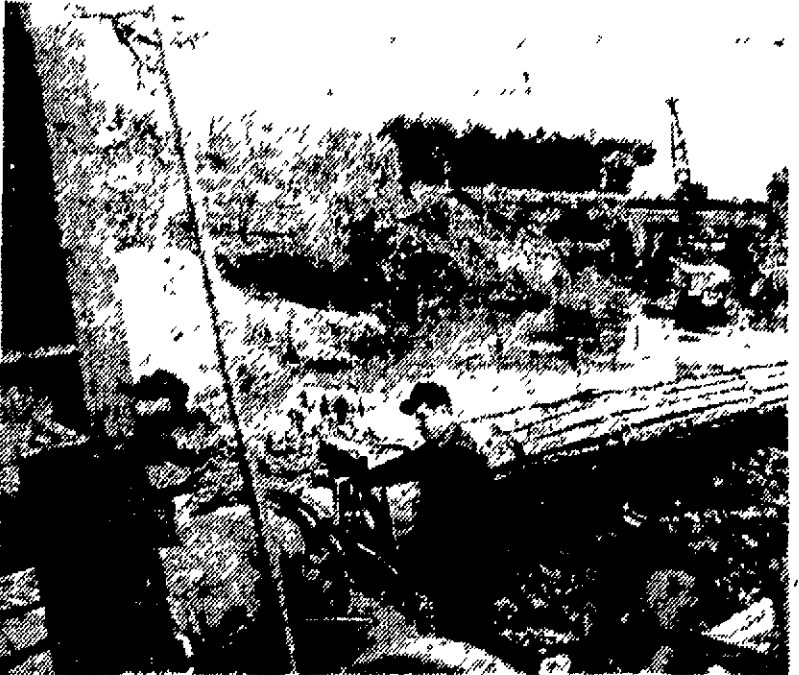

The State Resources Division Tuesday referred to expanded use of natural gas as a fuel for pump irrigation as "one of the important economic developments in Nebraska's history."
The division's monthly publication, "Nebraska on the March," carries a prediction that the abundant underground water found in south central Nebraska will in the future be used in increasingly larger quantities for irrigation as a result of cheaper pumping costs with natural gas.

Last summer more than 170 farmers, most of them within a 100-mile stretch between the Platte and Republican Rivers from Holdrege on the west to York and Sutton on the east used natural gas for the first time as a fuel for pump irrigation.
200 Wells Served
Gas was delivered for 200 wells by lines extended to the farms by the Kansas-Nebraska Gas Company, which has headquarters at Hastings.

"Company officials believe this may mark the first time in America that lines have been laid down to serve a solely farm market. In all, 24 irrigation project lines have been built since last spring," the magazine reported.
The new development is taking place in an area where dryland

Thirty-Inch Gas Line Crosses Blue

Six miles of this big 30-inch natural gas pipeline will be put into use as soon as this crossing of the Blue River south of Beatrice is completed. In foreground, welders join lengths of the giant steel pipe together as a 63-ton dragline with a 90-foot boom scoops out a trench in mid-river. The line will increase storage capacity of the Northern Natural Gas Co. for the present, but next year will be extended on 32 miles to Palmyra southeast of Lincoln. (Star Staff Photo.)

"This new invention changes the lives of the hard-of-hearing overnight," Heatter said. "I've seen it happen to someone I know intimately."
Heatter urged his listeners to find out how this amazing discovery can bring new happiness and success to their loved ones who need better hearing.
To acquaint readers of this newspaper with this new way to hear clearly again, a fascinating book with complete facts will be sent free, in a plain wrapper. No cost or obligation. Miss Lorraine Coryell Is Bride

MRS. RICHARD LOUIS CLAUSSEN

Groupings of lighted cathedral candles of graduated height, and off-center pyramids of white anthurium lilies, against a back-ter of Mrs. Levi Leland Coryell Jr., and the late Mr. Coryell, and Lt. Richard Louis Clausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben I. Clausen of North Platte, which took place on Tuesday evening, Nov. 2, at the First Presbyterian Church. Lighted candles, spiralled with ivy and tied with bows of ti leaves centered with anthurium blooms, marked the processional aisle on either side. Modern arrangements of candles and white anthurium also ornamented the entrance to the aisles.

The 8 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Dr. C. Vin White, and the wedding music was played by Miss Grace Finch, organist. Miss Finch also accompanied Mrs. Robert Fletcher, the soloist.

Peacock blue barathra was chosen for the bride's costume of the attendants including Miss Joan Boucher of Erie, Pa., who was her cousin's maid of honor; Miss Marion Whitworth, Miss Mary Ann Zimmerman, Miss Joyce Johnson and Miss Joan Knudson, the bridesmaids. The brief-sleeved bodices were snugly fitted and fashioned with a high, rounded front throat line that dipped to a deep oval at the back, and the waltz-length sheath skirts were drawn backward into a fanfare of pleated fullness. Each carried a spray bouquet of white-odori orchids, touched with pink, against a background of ivy leaves.

Dr. Bruce Clausen of Houston, Tex., served as best man, and the corps of ushers included Robert Pecha, San Bernardino, Calif.; Peter Bergsten, Richard Christoph and Jerry Clausen, Chicago; B. I. Noble Jr., Littleton, Colo.; Mike Korff, Hebron; Richard Rosendahl, North Platte; and Gates Minnick.

The bride appeared in a gown of pure silk white taffeta designed with a snugly fitted bodice in which a wide, portrait neckline contoured with re-embroidered lace dotted with pearls, slipped into abbreviated, crushed sleeves. The voluminous skirt, a motif of piping at the padded hipline, was given added bouffancy with pleating at the sides and back, and was completed with a sweep train. Her triple-tiered veil of imported French illusion was fingertip length, and was held to the head with a cloche of silk appliqued with re-embroidered lace, touched with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids on a background of white ivy leaves.

Following a reception at the Lincoln Country Club, where the refreshment table was appointed with tall candles and anthurium blossoms, Lt. Clausen and his bride left for a honeymoon trip after which they will be at home at 420 So. Philadelphia Blvd., Aberdeen, Md. For traveling Mrs. Clausen wore a wool suit, in the aqua tone, with matching hat and black accessories.

Mrs. Clausen is a June graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega and Omega Epsilon Pi. Lt. Clausen also was graduated from the University of Nebraska and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

To Be Morning Bride

The altar of St. Mary's Cathedral will be appointed with arrangements of white chrysanthemums for the marriage of Miss Beulah Mae Sileven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sileven, and Eugene Kendra, son of Mrs. Peter Kendra of Detroit, Mich., and the late Mr. Kendra, which will take place Wednesday morning, Nov. 3. The 11 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized by the Rev. Conrad J. Marrama.

As the members of the family and a small group of friends assemble, Miss Catherine Gillespie will present a prelude of organ music. Miss Gillespie also will play the wedding music and accompany Miss Lois Meyers, the vocal soloist.

Miss Mary Jane Arthur will be the maid of honor and will wear a frock of pale green taffeta accented by a full overskirt of white nylon net. Wearing similar costumes of green and rose crystalettes with net overskirts will be the bridesmaids, Mrs. Richard Tidd, and the bridesmaid, Miss Arleen Fitzpatrick. The attendants' bouquets will be fashioned of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

For her wedding, Miss Sileven has chosen a gown of white imported tulle embroidered in a floral motif. A narrow fichu of tulle edges the strapless basque beneath which the skirt flares into fullness, and her ensemble is completed by a long-sleeved redingote of the tulle, accented by a high, turned-down collar. A heart-shaped brim of lace dotted with seed pearls will hold her veil of illusion, and she will carry a white prayer book showered with garnet roses.

MISS BEULAH M. SILEVEN whose marriage to Eugene Kendra will take place Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Robert Foxwell will serve Mr. Kendra as best man, and seating the guests will be Ray Shelton and Don Rausch.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon for the members of the family and bridal party will be held at the Capital Hotel, after which the couple will leave for Detroit to reside.

Mr. Kendra has served over three years with the Air Force.

TOWN TALK

MAYBE someday someone can arrange not to have elections during a football season—there's just too much excitement all at one and the same time. But regardless of elections, and football games, in which there always has to be a loser, life seems to go at pretty much the same gait—just had a communique from the University Club which lists numerous interesting events—such as tea dancing—a fashion show—"The New Fashions For Casual Living"—and so on and things.

Speaking of fashions—just read a most disheartening item about "The Opulent Look." Now the opulent look has to do with the career gal no longer being able to excuse her appearance by just dashing from the office to tea—or dinner—or dancing. Nowadays, the article states, careerist must go home and polish herself to the last gleam. The from dawn-to-dark frock and its very convenient accessories, is supposed to be completely out of the picture—Well, we know the answer to that one—the career girl will run home, arrive there all out of breath to begin the polishing formula. By the time she is finished with it the party will be over and she might as well have stayed at the office in the first place.

BUT there was considerable shining-up for the Coryell-Clausen wedding on Tuesday evening—and looking exactly as an opulent look should be the Victor Halligans of North Platte who came for the wedding, and who are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown.

THIS morning we tried checking on some clues that had been given us concerning various and sundry who planned to go to Hawaii for the game—So far no plans are completed—but while on the subject of Hawaii we think you might like to know that Dr. A. D. Munger has just returned from Honolulu where he was a guest speaker at a session of the Pan-Pacific Surgical Congress.

SOMEONE told us that Mr. and Mrs. Warren Day are back in town again after a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Anthon in Iowa City. Dr. Anthon is a member of the faculty at the University of Iowa.

OFF to Lawrence, Kan., at week's end will go Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace de Brown and Mr. and Mrs. G. Selden Davey who will be in the Nebraska cheering section at the Nebraska-K.U. game.

Announce Betrothals

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Nov. 20, at the Lincoln Air Force Base chapel.

Navy Officers Wives To Meet

The Navy Officers Wives Club will meet for luncheon Friday at Cotner Terrace with Mrs. Conrad Fisher and Mrs. Jack Dawson as hostesses. Following the 12:30 o'clock luncheon, new officers will be elected, and a program featuring an exhibition of ballroom dancing will be presented by Ruby Kreyck and Joe Parker.

A class of instruction will be held at 7:30 o'clock preceding the 8:15 o'clock dance, which will have a hunting theme. Hosts and hostesses will include Mr. and Mrs. A. W. 'Lincoln May Not Have To Fear Another Polio Epidemic'

Health Director Says Salk Vaccine Tests 'Encouraging'

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln may not have to fear another severe polio epidemic. City-County Health Director James Googe Tuesday night said that "the Salk polio vaccine tests look encouraging."

Dr. Googe, who recently returned from the American Public Health Association annual meeting at Buffalo, N. Y., told the health board that "research going forward now, in which the citizens of this county are participating, seems to have the answer about worked out for the prevention of polio."

The health director reported that $32,316 of gamma globulin, another possible polio fighter, has been distributed and used for 1954 in Lancaster County.

City and county physicians were issued 5,070 cc's of gamma globulin during October. And some 19,500 cc's of globulin have been issued by the city-county health department to physicians in previous months, he said.

Balance On Hand
The department has a balance of 3,342 cc's on hand for future use, Dr. Googe stated.

He reiterated that no cases of polio have been reported to date occurring among the children who received polio vaccine early in the year.

Another optimistic report, one concerning Lincoln's milkshed, was given the health board by Director Googe.

Dr. Googe disclosed that the sanitation rating of the milkshed has been boosted 14 per cent this year.

Thus the new rating is now at 78, a big jump from last year's 64 rating.

Reason For Jump
Health Director Googe said he believed the reason for the sanitation rate increase was due to "increased interest in sanitation and the fact that all except one Lincoln processing plant have switched to grade A production."

"I think this sanitation improvement will go forward," he said, "but it is a slow process because there are so many in the milkshed."

The health board acted to approve Dr. Russell Smith as night physician replacing Dr. J. W. Rogers. And Dr. Chester Norman of 3518 So. 31st was approved as Well Child Conference pediatrician, also replacing Dr. Rogers.

The board also approved the hiring of Miss Mary Anne Pryor, graduate nurse, at a salary of $240 monthly and Mrs. Frances Babb, typist-clerk, at a salary of $180 monthly.

Overnight-Type Park For State Proposed
An overnight-type of state park in southeast Nebraska is proposed by the State Game Commission in its biennial budget. The commission suggests that a study be made with no recommendations offered for location, or size.

It is pointed out that demands for a park have come from the public. Asked from the general fund is $431,980 as compared with $269,303 granted this biennium.

Annual Friendship Dinner At University Features An International Style Show

The annual Friendship Dinner at the University of Nebraska Tuesday night featured an international style show, an address by an Iowa State professor of atomic research, and a Burmese menu.

More than 25 countries were represented at the event sponsored by Nebraska University Council on World Affairs.

Dr. A. F. Voight, assistant director of Iowa State College's Institute for Atomic Research, told the cosmopolitan gathering that "increased interest in the possible use of atoms for peace has brought us to the stage where this power source can be developed economically."

He explained this was more feasible in nations where water power is lacking and technical knowledge is available.

"Atomic power for peaceful uses will approach the prices of those now utilized within five or ten years," Dr. Voight forecast.

Students wearing costumes of Spain, Latvia, Bavaria, Mexico, China, Egypt, India, Lithuania, Iran, Ukraine, France, Panama, the Philippines and Germany took the audience on an "International Journey."

The "forkless" Burmese menu consisted of rice and chicken, banana salad, strawberry jello, and rice balls rolled in sugar.

Local Elgin Plant Gets Added Work

Lincoln's Elgin plant will handle a portion of the production under the $11.5 million contract just awarded Elgin National Watch Co. for manufacture of Navy equipment, Elmer Jurs, plant manager here, said.

The contract for ammunition, ammunition parts and other equipment is just a continuation of an existing contract and will have no effect on local plant employment, Jurs explained.

The production will be handled at all the company's plants.

Jurs pointed out that the contract involves high-precision work of a type the jeweled watch industry is "uniquely qualified" to handle.

At the ordnance division headquarters in Elgin, George W. Fraker, general manager of the division, said the company now has a backlog of about $30 million in ordnance contracts, having received approximately $62 million in production and development orders from the armed services the past four years.

Links Strong In Middle

It's a football axiom that a good tailback, fast ends and a good center are necessary to make the single wing formation. One reason for Lincoln High's success with the single wing is the strength in the middle given the team by Craig Callen (left) and Dwight Meierhenry. Callen, a senior, and Meierhenry, a sophomore, will be busy Friday night when the Links play Northeast for the city championship. (Star Photo.)

'Old Pro' And The Bench Rider— Balance Gives Lions Punch

By JOE FALLS
DETROIT (AP)—Better backfield balance, keyed around alternating quarterbacks, has given the Detroit Lions a new punch in their drive for a third straight National Football League championship.

With four victories in five starts, Buddy Parker boasts his most balanced attack since becoming coach of the Lions in 1951.

Key to any pro backfield is the quarterback — and the Lions surely find themselves with two of apparently equal talent. Bobby Layne, the team's "old pro" for the last two championship seasons, has received unexpected help from Tom Dublinski, a bench rider for the last two seasons.

Indeed, Dublinski, a master in the art of fakery, has made Layne hustle to retain his No. 1 rating. In the past, the Lions relied almost exclusively on the talents of Layne, who fortunately for them had two brilliant seasons in a row.

Layne's big value is his passing arm and his ability to rouse his teammates when the going gets toughest. The less-experienced Dublinski has been superior in handling the Lions' much-improved ground game.

Last year, Parker built his attack around his "Big Three"—Layne, Doak Walker and Bob Hoernschmeyer. The remarkable improvement of Lew Carpenter, plus the addition of Bill Bowman, a rookie fullback from William & Mary, has lightened the load for the "Big Three" and, consequently, has made the Lions' backfield a more versatile unit.

Carpenter has rushed for 267 yards for a 4.9 average. Bowman has a 3.5 average on 132 yards while Hoernschmeyer has 3.4 average on 123.

These aren't spectacular figures but they clearly illustrate that the Lions now have three dangerous runners where last year they had only one, Hoernschmeyer.

Moreover, the light Walker (165 pounds) hasn't had to undergo the rigors of ball carrying. Used as a decoy and pass receiver, Walker has carried the ball only eight times. But he has caught 16 passes for 310 yards.

Layne and Dublinski have almost identical passing records. Just look at the comparison:

	Att.	Comp.	Yds.	Pct.	TD
Dublinski	79	44	655	55.8	4
Layne	85	44	638	51.8	5

Magnificent Tom

His story is an intriguing one. In the second game of the year, Dublinski was somewhat magnificent in his ball handling and led the Lions to a 31-3 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

In the next game, against Baltimore, Layne came off the bench and tossed three touchdown passes for a 35-0 victory.

Layne was injured the following week as the Lions lost to San Francisco. But Dublinski, who replaced him, missed by a whisker of overcoming San Francisco's 20-points in the fourth period.

Then, last Sunday, after Dublinski failed to move the team, Layne came in and directed an 80-yard march which paid off with a 27-24 win.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska's sudden—and quite unexpected—rise in the football world is currently drawing a great deal of attention around this part of the country.

No scribe in the area has gone overboard with awe over the Huskers, but from the temper of some articles it is apparent that Nebraska is once more being reckoned with.

Even down Oklahoma way, Coach Bill Glassford's Cornhuskers have made an impression.

JOHN CRONLEY, sports editor of the Daily Oklahoman, writes: "Hardly a second thought was accorded Nebraska, yet here are the Cornhuskers hot on the Florida scent, having played better football the past two week ends in upending favored Colorado and Missouri than the rather erratic Sooners in their under-the-odds victories over Kansas State and the Golden Buffaloes. . . . And setting up their November 20 appearance at Norman as the title deciding business are the surprising Cornhuskers, now once defeated within the league and perhaps better off bowl-wise than anyone."

"Not beyond the realm of possibility, either, is a share of the Big Seven plum with the Big Red (Oklahoma), for the Nebraskaans are through the most difficult segment of their schedule with the Sooners still listing a second important date with up-and-down Missouri, which shows in Norman on November 13."

Here are some other observations from Big Seven scribes:

SEC TAYLOR, sports editor of the Des Moines Register, who saw the Missouri-Nebraska game in Lincoln—"Coach Bill Glassford has done a remarkable job here. He took a squad that was torn with dissension last fall and during the winter and moulded a team that resembles the old Nebraska powerhouses in every respect but one."

"It is not the big, heavy Cornhusker machine of old. But it charges hard, blocks well, tackles viciously, plays with precision and is directed judiciously so long as quarter Dan Brown calls the signals."

"Brown did a magnificent job against Missouri. He knew what he was doing. His calls usually proved to be correct."

"The Huskers played with such precision and timing that they did not need the threat of passing to make their ground game successful and Brown stuck to running."

JACK CARBERRY, sports editor of the Denver Post—"Oklahoma is not the No. 1, 2 or even No. 5 team of the 1954 season and the weekly football polls which so rate them are cockeyed. . . . Oklahoma's 1954 team can be 'had.' And the way it can be had—and to climb out on the limb and say the way it will be had before this season ends—is in the air. We doubt if either of its remaining top opponents—Nebraska and Missouri—can beat Oklahoma on the ground."

"Nebraska has the better chance here, for its head man, Bill Glassford, is a master of substitution—as (Bud) Wilkinson proved himself to be Saturday. The Colorado players said Oklahoma's line charge and tackling were harder and sharper than Nebraska's. Exclude Burris and the crashing end play of Boydston and Allison, and to the observer in the stands the difference in 'charging' did not appear."

"But Oklahoma will have depth on Nebraska—as it had depth on Colorado."

What the Cornhuskers will do from here on out, is anybody's guess. But it is pleasant, for a change, to have other folks talking about Nebraska and Oklahoma in the same story and not thinking of the Huskers as a "soft touch" or punching bag. It may not last long, but it's fun to have somebody concerned about your football team, even for a little while.

Our guess is that the Nebraska players are going to get tougher every week, so this concern around the loop may even grow.

Kansas' Unorthodox T Poses Special Problems

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

School work, instead of football, took precedence Tuesday at the University of Nebraska as quite a few of the Husker gridder took time out from the practice chores for examinations and ROTC.

But Coach Bill Glassford sent the football players present through a short, intense round of scrimmage. Emphasis was pass defense and the ground defensive patterns to be used against the Kansas Jayhawks Saturday at Lawrence.

Kansas, which hasn't won a game in seven starts under its new coach Chuck Mather of Massillon, Ohio fame, runs from an unorthodox T formation, which includes the spinning quarterback and various reverses.

It is for this reason that the Huskers must change their entire defensive structure for Saturday's game. In the past—with the exception of Colorado's single wing—Nebraska's opponents have either played basically Split T or Straight T.

End Jack Braley, who missed the Missouri game and as announced earlier will miss the Kansas game, is still confined at the Student Health center with a chest infection. Center Bob Berguin, suffering from a leg injury, is the only other Husker slated to miss Saturday's Big Seven clash at Lawrence.

Comstock Rolls

Statistics released Tuesday indicate that Scottsbluff's Don Comstock has taken over as the squad's No. 1 ball carrier. In 12 tries he has gained 114 yards for a 9.5 average.

Following Comstock, on the basis of averages, are John Edwards (9.1), Denny Korinek (8.1), Willie Greenlaw (6.8), Ron Clark (5.0) and Bob Smith (4.7). Smith has been the heavy-duty man, carrying a total of 57 times.

Soph Don Erway is the pass leader, completing 10 of 19 passes for 196 yards and a .526 average. Two of his flips have gone for touchdowns.

Loehr Top Receiver

Andy Loehr is the No. 1 pass receiver, grabbing five aeriels for 79 yards, a 15.8 average and one TD. LeRoy Butcher has caught three for 67 yards and a 22.3 average, while Greenlaw is close behind with three catches for 65 yards and a 21.7 average.

In the team department, the Cornhuskers have outdowned their foes 93-26 (73 by rushing) and have rolled up 1,886 yards net gain to 1,478 for the opposition. Rushing has accounted for 1,503 of the total yards, while the opponents have been held to 1,048.

(Nebraska's average total offense after six games is 314.6 to 246.3, even though the opposition has run 306 plays to the Huskers' 330.)

The Kansas two-deep squad with weights:

Centers—Dick Reich (211) and Frank Black (217)

Right guards—Bob Preston (190) and Bob Hubbard (201)

Right tackles—Gene Blasi (203) and Dick Knowles (205)

Right ends—Bill Bell (205) and LaVerne Fiss (184)

Quarterbacks—Bev Buller (175) and John McFarland (180)

Left halfbacks—Terry McIntosh (178) and Ted Rohde (187)

Right halfbacks — Dick Blowey (184) and Rex Sullivan (176)

Fullbacks—Bud Laughlin (207) and Tommy Webb (182)

A's Drop Ottawa

OTTAWA (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics have discontinued operations in Ottawa, base for their International League farm club, it was announced Tuesday.

The step, which may mean the end of the triple-A baseball in the capital, was announced in a letter from Channing Ellery, attorney for the American League club, to T. P. (Tommy) Gorman of the Ottawa Nationals Baseball Club.

The Nationals, former entry in the Canadian Border League, hold territorial rights in this area which were leased to the Philadelphia club in 1951 when the New York Giants of the National League made a one-year try here, Philadelphia later gained the Ottawa franchise.

Miami, Fla., was reported here a probable choice as the Philadelphia club's new No. 1 farm team, possibly entering the International League to join the other Southern centers of Havana and Richmond, Va., admitted last year.

Omaha 'Possible' In Tangerine Bowl

OMAHA (AP)—Omaha University in the Tangerine football bowl New Year's Day? The word is out that it is possible.

Possible if the Indians can whip Wayne University, Detroit, here Saturday and Doane the week after that.

It is reported that Omaha officials have been contacted by Tangerine Bowl officials at Orlando, Fla. But the Omaha school chiefs are keeping mum on it.

School President Dr. Milo Ball told students Monday that "B" is a word we are not using on this campus until the night of Nov. 11."

Omaha, unbeaten so far, ends its regular season with Doane Nov. 11.

Jays Anticipate Invasion Of NU, Work Near Goal

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks, prepping for their Homecoming Day game with Nebraska here Saturday, devoted considerable time Tuesday to goal line scrimmage.

Starting End Bill Bell missed the workout because of a sprained ankle and is a doubtful for Saturday. His job was operated today by LaVerne Fiss. Center Dick Reich, kept out of contact work Monday due to a chest injury, was back in action.

Johnson 'Swinging'

CHICAGO (AP)—Arnold Johnson, Chicago financier, said Tuesday he will return to Philadelphia Wednesday to get "right back in swing" on his effort to purchase the Athletics for Kansas City.

Johnson returned from Philadelphia Monday to vote here and also "talk to my associates" in the proposed purchase of the A's. Identities of the associates were disclosed for the first time by Johnson. They include Nathaniel Leverone, J. Patrick Lannan and Joseph H. Briggs, all wealthy Chicago businessmen.

Johnson said he had no conferences planned with the Mack family. "But I'll be on the phone talking to parties concerned," he added.

IS Stresses Defense

AMES, Ia. (AP)—Iowa State emphasized its defense Tuesday in preparing for Saturday's invasion of undefeated Oklahoma here Saturday.

The Cyclones, slowly recovering from a rash of injuries, will work out only lightly this week, Coach Vince DiFrancesca said.

Kim Tidd, converted to halfback, still was bothered by a bad knee and might miss the Oklahoma game.

Andrews Halts Bo Willis, Eyes Go With Tougher Foe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Paul Andrews, third-ranking lightweight contender, tuned up for his Dec. 1 fight with Joey Maxim in Chicago by scoring a technical knockout over Bo Willis of Miami in the second round of a scheduled 10-round feature Tuesday night.

Andrews weighed 184, the heaviest of his career. Willis also weighed 184.

Willis, a 3-1 underdog, startled Andrews at the opening of the fight by landing a series of solid right hands to the head. Andrews rode out the storm and near the end of the round floored Willis for a nine count with a left hook and three quick right-hand punches to the head.

At the start of the second, Andrews drove Willis into the ropes with a flurry of lefts and rights and Referee Eddie Coachman stepped in to ask Willis if he wanted to continue.

Willis asked to go on and Andrews promptly dropped him for nine with a series of rights and lefts. As Willis rose for the second time, Coachman stopped the fight at 1:39 of the round.

Willie Troy TKO's Light-Heavy Foe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Middleweight Willie Troy of Washington scored a technical knockout over light-heavyweight Tommy Thompson of Quantico, Va., in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout Tuesday night at Turner's Arena.

The end came after 44 seconds of the sixth when Referee Marty Gallagher moved in to save Thompson from further punishment.

Seeks Milford Game

CROFTON—Undeclared Crofton is reported seeking a post-season eight-man football game with Milford.

Migration Of Nebraskans To Florida Seen

OMAHA (AP)—There could be a mass migration of Nebraskans to Florida over the year-end holidays—all of them bowl-bound.

The University of Nebraska may represent the Big Seven in the Orange Bowl at Miami and the University of Omaha may be in Orlando to play in the Tangerine Bowl. Back in 1940 — the state's last big bowl game—Nebraska lost to Stanford 21 to 13 in the Rose Bowl.

Nebraska could make it to the Orange Bowl by beating Kansas and Oklahoma, or if they lose to Oklahoma and finish in second place either alone or tied with Missouri and Colorado for second.

Omaha University has won seven consecutive games and has two to go. And in Bill Engelhardt, they have one of the top individual yardage gainers in the nation.

Reynolds Suffers Severe Finger Cut

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A slip in the shower last week may cost Allie Reynolds, the New York Yankee Super Chief, the remainder of his pitching career, it was being conjectured Wednesday.

The famous fireballer told the Daily Oklahoman the index finger of his right hand was severely cut in the accident last Thursday at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Reynolds had returned from deer hunting. While taking a shower the mat slipped, throwing him into the glass enclosure.

A specialist was summoned and soon after performed an 80-minute operation in a Colorado Springs hospital on the finger which suffered a bone-deep gash. Skin had to be grafted over the cut.

Doc Gives Mantle Clean Health Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the Yankees' long-hitting outfielder, has undergone another checkup on his injured knee and received a clean bill of health, the Yankee management said Tuesday.

Mantle, who injured a cartilage in his right knee during the 1951 World Series and subsequently had it operated on, never has gone to a Yankee training camp in good condition. Next spring, barring further difficulties, he will be able to go at top speed from the start.

In its first year, millions of motorists have proved the benefits of

Conoco Super Gasoline with

TCP

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

Here are the facts proved by millions:

1. TCP boosts your car's power as much as 15% (because it neutralizes power-robbing lead deposits).
2. TCP gives you extra gas mileage (motorists report up to 3 miles more per gallon).
3. TCP is just like an engine tune-up (because it lets you enjoy all your car's built-in power).
4. TCP increases spark-plug life up to 150% (because it actually fireproofs your spark plugs).
5. TCP makes it possible for you to enjoy all the extra performance of Conoco Super's higher-octane rating.

But don't take our word for it! Read what motorists, themselves, say about Conoco Super with TCP.

3. "As a wholesale florist, I maintain four cars and three trucks. In every one of them, it's Conoco Super with TCP. My '49 Ford Station Wagon is giving new-car performance—from a car 5 years old! I'm amazed! Starting on cold mornings is 50% better, too. I'm completely sold on Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP."

Mr. Ray B. Crowley, Wholesale Florist
Littleton, Colorado

1. "I remember when tetraethyl lead was first put into gasoline 31 years ago. Now comes Conoco Super with TCP and, by gum, it is the greatest gasoline development in 31 years! It's lived up to the power of my '51 Mercury—and to tell you something else—it really pays! Now, I get 3 more miles to the gallon."

Mr. John T. Knudson, Traffic Officer
3089 South Fourth East, Salt Lake City, Utah

4. "I don't understand too much about car engines, but Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP does the job as no other gasoline has done before. . . . I mean every word of it! My 1950 Chevrolet runs quietly, it doesn't make knocking noises, it starts right up and goes farther to the gallon. What could be better?"

Mrs. S. J. Crosby, Housewife
415 West 5th Street, Anaconda, Montana

2. "We've put Conoco Super with TCP to the test over all conditions of terrain and climate. TCP is doing everything it's promised in giving our '53 Cadillac extra mileage, more power, and all-round better performance. We won't take any other gasoline, now, because we're convinced that TCP has no substitute."

Mr. S. E. Brooks, Retired RR Engineer
107 North Third, Boies, New Mexico

5. "Conoco Super with TCP is like a vitamin tonic for my '48 DeSoto. The engine starts without sneezing and coughing. It's the same with my Olds and the two trucks we use. And the mileage savings are like getting a gallon to a gallon and a half of free gas to every tankful."

Mr. William Grabowski, Electrical Contractor
482 North Birch Ave., Elgin, Illinois

Bryant's Brilliant Play Is Credited For Success

Charles Immanuel Bryant, senior guard from Omaha, has had a heavy hand in bringing Nebraska up by its bootstraps into the role of a winner this season.

Bryant's play against both Colorado and Missouri was brilliant. And it has been a two-way display, both offensive and defensive. With Nebraska's shifting defenses, Charley is sometimes at the left line backing assignment and at other times on the line of scrimmage.

Bryant is cat-quick in his movements. He is usually first down under punts and kickoffs.

From Omaha South
Bryant came to Nebraska from Omaha South on his own. It was not until he was a sophomore that he was given a grant-in-aid.

He worked for his tuition, board and room in his freshman year. He has steadily improved through his three years here. In the winter, Bryant has been a member of the wrestling team and he has won two letters in this sport. Charley has wrestled from the 167-pound class up through the light heavyweight.

He will have trouble getting back to 167, however, as he has matured into a stout 197 pounds.

Bryant's vicious tackle of a punt receiver in the Missouri game forced a fumble and gave Nebraska possession when the contest was hanging in the balance.

He has forced other fumbles in close line play this year.

If Bryant can maintain the pace he has set in the early games he unquestionably will win recognition on sectional and national all star teams.

Bryant's career is definite proof that a lad with desire can make a major football team despite the fact that he is not singled out for aid as a freshman.

So as Charley hoisted himself by his own petard he has provided some of the leadership that has hauled Nebraska out of the football quagmires.

CHARLEY BRYANT

Huskers Not Represented In Loop Figures

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Nebraska, which appears to have the inside track in the Big Seven for winning the Orange Bowl bid, is the only team in the conference not represented among the team or individual leaders in statistics this week.

The Cornhuskers have won four and lost two games this season. The losses were to Minnesota and Kansas State. In the conference their record is 3-1 and places them in second place behind undefeated Oklahoma.

Kansas, without a victory in seven games, has the top punter in Ted Rhode. He has kicked 26 times for a total of 1,137 yards, an average of 43.7 yards a game.

Vic Eaton of Missouri and Jerry Finley of Iowa State are the top passers. Eaton has connected on 20 of 38 attempts for 303 yards. Finley has been successful on 18 occasions for 241 yards. He has thrown the ball 36 times.

Colorado's John Bayuk, although held to 30 yards by Oklahoma last week, held his No. 1 position as top ball carrier. Bayuk has gained 681 yards in 107 carries. Max Burkett of Iowa State and Frank Bernardi, another Coloradoan, are tied for runner-up honors. Each has gained 487 yards by ground.

Colorado, although beaten in its last two outings by Nebraska and Oklahoma, retains the leadership in total offense. The Buffs have gained 2,170 yards rushing and 386 passing for a total of 2,556.

The Sooners have gained a total of 2,065 yards, of which 1,726 was by running and 339 by passing.

145-Pound Elmwood Fullback Named Star Of Week

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member
The Star today goes into Cass County Conference 6-man football for The Star of the Week.

The boy is Buddy Ahrens, Coach Bill Mickelson's 145-pound Elmwood High fullback who played a fine game as the Pirates won the conference title on a 33-32 victory over Eagle.

Ahrens, 5-10, a 16-year-old junior, scored on runs of eight, 12 and 79 yards. His longest run was a kickoff return.

Ahrens has scored 72 points this fall and is rated a strong defensive player. Against Eagle he started the drive which overcame an Eagle lead and gave the Pirates the triumph in the last quarter.

Among the standouts around the state last week were these prep players:

Sherrill Hanson, Curtis—114 runs of 71 and 80 yards were among the big moments of a Curtis surprise 33-12 victory over highly rated York.
Phil Vandecar, York—115 72-yard pass interception saved the Dukes one touchdown.
Jerry Wanner, Grand Island—116 carried the second-half kickoff 85 yards to score as G.I. beat Fremont for the Eastern Division of the Big Ten Conference.

Hendey Roberts and Pat Mead, Aurora—The Huskies won their first game of the season when Roberts ran 70 yards for a touchdown with the second half kickoff and Mead kicked the extra point for a 7-0 victory over Albion.

Low-Galen, Lincoln 116—The Links' junior halfback ran wild against Omaha Tech. He scored three times as Lincoln crushed the Maroons.

Duane Hunseler, Hiramburg—116 scored twice and kicked the vital extra point in the St. Albans 13-12 triumph at Genoa.

Max Startz, Beatrice—The Oronovan back scored twice in defeat at Hastings. His 50-yard touchdown run in the final quarter was exceptional. He recovered field and eluded numerous Tiger tacklers.

back who has led a capable Kearney team to a fine season.
Duane Wiesel, Kennett—He scored six times in the rout of Blue Springs.
Kris Mawman, Dushler—His defensive end play was strong against Blue Hill.
Jas. Giza, Omaha Cathedral—Undeclared Falls City beat the Cardinals 40-27 but three touchdowns by Giza troubled them.
Joe Schmidt, Franklin—115 scoring runs covered 80, 63, 15 and 14 yards as Franklin beat Oxford.

Mike Myler, Chappell—This freshman ran 35 yards for a kickoff touchdown and crossed the Wameka goal three times in a heavy Chappell win.

Leo Van Tersch, Creighton Prep—115 three touchdowns wrecked an undefeated Omaha Benson team.
Walter Huff, Tecumseh—Once again the Indian fullback was a strong man on offense and defense as Tecumseh pounded Auburn.

Demo J. Allen Frear Wins 2nd Senate Term From Delaware

... McDowell Takes Congress Race

WILMINGTON, Del. (U-P)—Democrat J. Allen Frear, a 51-year-old businessman, won a second term in the U. S. Senate Tuesday night by handily defeating Republican Rep. Herbert B. Warburton, a candidate singled out by President Eisenhower for personal endorsement.

J. Allen Frear

In addition, Delaware voters, in a heavy turnout, elected Harris B. McDowell, former Democratic state chairman, to the state's lone congressional seat over Mrs. Lillian H. Martin, 44-year-old Republican candidate in the Democrats' first off-year election since 1922.

In 320 of the state's 329 precincts, the vote for Senate: Warburton 58,869; Frear 78,278.

In 320 of the state's 329 precincts, the vote for Congress: Martin 60,962; McDowell 75,283.

Only last Friday, President Eisenhower told a crowd at the Wilmington airport: "We must have a Sen. Warburton to help a Sen. (John J.) Williams."

Frear of Selbyville talked tax and foreign policy. Warburton campaigned on the need for a Republican Congress to help President Eisenhower.

Inroads Democratic State Chairman Elbert N. Carvel claimed election for the party's candidates for state attorney general, auditor and treasurer. It appeared the Democrats were making inroads in Republican control of the state Legislature. The state has a Republican governor, J. Caleb Boggs.

In 1952, Republican Williams won election over Democrat Alexis I. Bayard by 90,952 to 79,975.

None of the top slated candidates took a public position on segregation—the biggest issue early in the campaign—in the two downstate counties, Kent and Sussex. The issue developed when 11 Negro pupils were first admitted and then ousted from an all-white school at Milford.

This was the biggest margin ever piled up by a Democratic ticket in the state.

Returns were not broken down into city and county districts but indications were that Frear carried normally Republican areas of New Castle County, Wilmington and both downstate counties, Kent and Sussex.

State Engineer L. N. Ress

Ress Says Report 'Misunderstood'

State Engineer L. N. Ress said Tuesday that there was a misunderstanding of his report of a recent conference with the Highway Users Conference in which it was said they would not oppose continuation of the present 6 cent gasoline tax.

Ress said that one of the group had a resolution supporting continuation of the tax for the next two years and other representatives said they individually would not oppose. There was no expressed opposition. Ress explained, and he believed the consensus of the group was favorable.

Some of those at the meeting now say that they were not authorized to speak for their group and only expressed individual opinions which might be overruled.

UNICEF Gets $165 Following 'Trick-Treat'

Nearly 100 children rang doorbells in southeast Lincoln on Halloween night for the UNICEF "trick or treat" party to raise $165 for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The UNICEF party was sponsored by the Christ Methodist Church woman's society and Sunday school with the aid of the seventh and eighth grades of District 126 and the Christian Alliance Church.

Later the children gathered at Christ Methodist Church for a Halloween party, program and refreshments. Amounts collected for UNICEF by participating organizations were Christ Methodist $148, and District 126, $15.

UNICEF is an international effort to improve the health and welfare of children with the fund supplying basic medical equipment for rural health centers the world over.

POSTCARD

Mr. Eddie Guest who was named the greatest poet in the world by the late Mr. Henry Ford, once remarked in a syndicated way: "It takes a heap o' livin' in a house to make it home."

I have investigated this statement thoroughly and can now state that it is true. If you live through it.

It was nearly a year ago that I approached my banker with a check in hand and an eye full of stardust.

"What kind of house do you wish to build?" he said. "A mere cottage," I said. "A wilderness retreat. A house by the side of the road where the race of men go by."

"Himm," said the banker, "has got a bathroom downstairs?" "Why I scarcely gave it a thought," I said. "Everybody in my house being hale and hearty and able to climb stairs like a blooming goat if necessary."

"You gotta have a bathroom downstairs," said the banker. "It improves the resale value."

"But I don't want to sell it," I cried. "I want to live in it."

"Ah, but we may want to resell it," said the banker, stroking the gold nuggets on his watch chain.

Well dear hearts, this is what occurs when modern man seeks to build a nest.

This is not the way I had pictured it at all. I had pictured a sturdy mansion arising amid the ring of axes. We could fell trees—or any way, a strong man hired for the purpose would fell trees. Or maybe I would lay in a barrel of cider and all the jolly neighbors would come around and fell trees.

Oh, it would be a gay time. With the broad-shouldered frontiersman singing in the wilderness. And all the merry wives unpacking the pickles and cuffing the children.

"You have an architect?" said the banker.

"I have," I said sullenly. "A genial gent name of Mr. Kirby has drawn some things on blue paper. Though for the life of me I do not know what."

"Why, then," cried the banker merrily, "you are practically in your own home. We call it your home," he said, "though it is actually our home. But we bankers are sentimental folk. And if you play your cards right, it will be your home. In about 50 years."

A good many things have happened to our home. I call it our home because I am sentimental too. My home and the banker's.

My friendly builder got me on the blower this early a.m.

"Did you ever think how nice it would be if your windows were painted white?" he said.

"Why Walter," I said, "I love white. Especially in shirts and on brides. But I thought windows were to be natural wood."

"A slight mistake has occurred," said the builder gloomily. "Somebody got loose with the paint pot and not only painted your house but the windows also."

Immediately I got the banker on the pipe.

Something has happened to our house," I said. "In fact, to your house. There has been some paint spread around which may cost you a pretty penny. And I assume being a banker, you have many pretty pennies. For I have always heard that bankers are a frugal lot."

"Why, my boy," he said, "When these things happen, it is your home. And you must strive to do better and watch the painters and harry the carpenters."

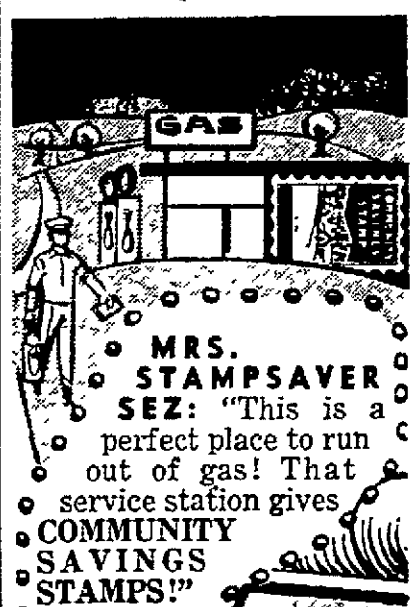

"It is only our house," said the banker, "in case you fail to meet the monthly payment with the old ready."

"But, sir," I cried, "there was the extra payment for removing the large rock which was cunningly hid beneath the garage floor. Also, the matter of a grand for a little old change of plans. Soon I shall not have the wherewithal to live."

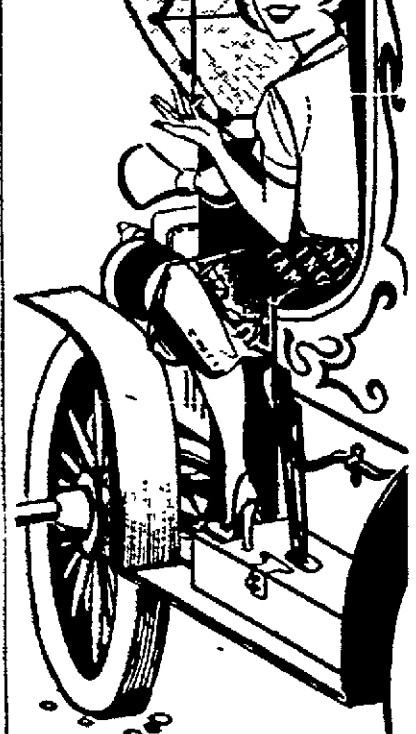

"That is the way it goes," said the banker. "It takes a heap of livin' —"

Still it is rather pretty. The way the house rises day by day. In direct ratio to the fall of the bank account. And if you are ever in my part of the country, don't stay at the hotel. Come right out to the house. Our house. Mine and the banker's.

300 to Attend State High School Press Convention Here

The 23rd annual convention of the Nebraska High School Press Association will draw more than 300 students from 23 high schools, according to advance registrations.

The two-day meeting, which opens Friday at the University of Nebraska Student Union, will consist of talks by outstanding journalists, clinics on improving newspapers and yearbooks, competitive contests, and panel discussions.

To Receive Keys

At the opening session Friday at 10 a.m., five students of the School of Journalism will receive gold keys in recognition of superior scholarship during their first-year studies. The keys are awarded jointly by The Lincoln Star and The Lincoln Journal.

Saturday noon at the awards luncheon, the two outstanding yearbooks will be awarded trophies by the Grand Island Independent and Scottsbluff Star-Herald. Omaha World-Herald plaques will be awarded to one mimeographed newspaper and two printed newspapers which were judged outstanding during the 1953-54 school year.

President of the Association is Barclay Wade of Fremont, and Prof. James Morrison of the University School of Journalism is convention director.

High schools planning to attend include:

Superior, York, Hastings, St. Frances De Chantal of Randolph, McCook, Scribner, St. Joseph Academy of Omaha, North Platte, Nebraska City, Scottsbluff, Kearney, Curtis, Columbus, St. Bonaventure (Columbus), Beatrice, St. Ludwig Academy (Creighton), St. Patrick of Fremont, Concordia Teachers

High School of Seward, Creighton, Holy Name of Omaha, Bayard, Lincoln Northeast, and Chase County High School (Imperial).

Clothes Make Man?

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"Hurry," the excited caller told police headquarters. "There's a man hanging from a window on the 12th floor of the hotel." Police squad cars reported back, "Just a pair of pants drying—cancel call." Freeman Francis, a clothes presser at the hotel, had washed the trousers and hung them out the window on a piece of wire to dry.

Here is a pleasant little name that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Now we find the Pennsylvania candidate who promised to keep his slate clean was a coal dealer.

Elsewhere it was as fair and square as you will find outside an investigation.

It was torrid enough to start the sprinkler system working in the devil's parlor. All the accusations, recriminations, charges, libels, slanders, counter-charges and self-funding double-dealing were just a part of the American system of fair play.

Today we act as if nothing had happened. It didn't to some candidates.

In our state the winner said, "I shall not betray your confidence." He admits it's that kind of a game.

The loser took it neatly. In a post-mortem statement he re-

New Fraud Disclosures In Housing Scandal Foreseen By Capehart

By WILLIAM KERWIN
WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said Tuesday he expects "new disclosures of frauds" in the housing scandal involving persons not yet named both in and out of government.
The Senate Banking Committee chairman, who is directing a sweeping investigation of the Federal Housing Administration, also predicted that the government will make "substantial recoveries" in cases where builders repaid so-called "windfall" profits under FHA-insured loans.
In an interview with Newsweek magazine, Capehart said: "I am certain that all builders who participated in frauds have not been identified. I hope, but I am not sure, that all past and present government officials who participated have been found."
"I expect new disclosures of frauds involving people—who have so far not been named—within and outside the government," Capehart's committee disclosed plans Monday to give its attention to FHA and Veterans Administration small home loans with the possibility of an all-out probe in that field.
The chairman indicated that this inquiry would be concerned with widespread complaints of shoddy construction, to be taken up at a committee meeting next week. Capehart said there is an "awfully smelly" situation at Dallas, Tex.
Many builders are alleged to have received windfalls as a result of FHA-insured loans on apartments far in excess of actual construction costs.
Capehart was asked how much of the estimated one billion dollars in windfalls he expects the government to recover.
He replied: "The new administration is bringing test cases in the courts to try to recover windfalls. I cannot speculate on what the courts will do."
"I expect, however, that a good many very substantial recoveries will be made through income-tax collections."
The Indiana senator repeated his previous assertion that the inquiry up to now has "barely scratched the surface."
He added: "What we found indicates a need to go into housing built with Veterans Administration aid, housing on or near military bases, and co-operative housing projects."
"We are checking these phases now and expect to hold open hearings on them next year."
Although Capehart himself was not up for re-election this year, the Democrats could upset these plans if they capture control of the senate in Tuesday's elections inasmuch as the Indianan would then lose his committee chairmanship.

Sen. Ellender Charges Britain 'Undermining Us'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) says Britain is "undermining us" abroad.
"The United Kingdom is undermining us by saying we're immature, not capable to lead," Ellender told a news conference here after returning from a 2½-month tour of 33 countries in Europe, the Middle East, Asia and North Africa.
Ellender said he favors a reduction of the U.S. foreign aid program.
The senator said he learned Britain is using her influence, with much success, against a U.S. program of selling farm products to other nations on a basis which would not involve their scarce dollar supply. The United States idea is to accept their currency, and buy back other items from them with the money.
"The United Kingdom somehow is able to use her influence to prevent sales to us except for dollars," Ellender said.
"The U.K. has got its nose all over the world, in every country," he added.
The Howard-Greeley Public Power District of St. Paul asked the Railway Commission for official authorization for 178 miles of transmission line the district has constructed in Hall, Greeley, Howard, Merrick, Nance and Sherman Counties.

TRAVEL SMILES by Merry Miles

There was a scandal in my home town this week.
My maiden Aunt Jane wrote me all about it the other day. After she returned from her vacation this summer, an article appeared in the local paper saying, "Miss Jane William and Mr. John Austen have just returned from their vacation in California."
Well! There was plenty of raised eyebrows around town until everyone found out that "Mr." John Austen was really Aunt Jane's 10-year-old nephew who lives with her!
Aunt Jane has her own car, but considering the driving strain on a long trip and the trouble driving in strange cities—she decided to go by Greyhound.
A big surprise for Aunt Jane came when she found out they could travel under Greyhound's "Family Plan". Johnny made the entire trip for just one-half the one-way fare (about 25% of what it cost Aunt Jane)... which saved her quite a lot.
And they had a lot of fun. Did a lot of sightseeing along the way, too. They stopped in interesting Salt Lake City... had a wonderful time riding the cable cars and exploring Chinatown in San Francisco... went thru the movie studios in Hollywood, and came back thru the cowboy country of Wyoming, which made a big hit with Johnny.
Because they wanted to stop at these different cities to go sightseeing, Aunt Jane was very enthused about a Greyhound service called "Slumber-Stop". The Greyhound agent made all their hotel reservations in advance—so after each day's ride, a hotel room was ready and waiting for them each night.
Well, after Aunt Jane got home—my sister, her husband and their two teen-age girls decided to spend a week in Chicago. My sister and her girls paid only the one-way fare for the round trip! (About one-half what her husband Jim paid). They visited the stores, saw a couple stage shows and said they had a barrel of fun. Especially Jim—he didn't have to drive all that way.
Enough about my family and the "Family Plan". I'll be back soon with some travel gossip from Omaha. I'm leaving for there by Scenicruiser tonight.
